

Federal Road Aid Dependent on Cash Payment by State

Auditor Slate Says Highway Board Must Prove Ability to Meet Road Contract Requirements.

OVER-CONTRACTING CAUSE OF RULING

Auditor Gives Figures for Last Year, Revealing "Fallacies" in System Employed by State.

The Georgia highway department will have to give reassurances to the federal government as to the state's ability to meet road contract requirements in cash as a "condition precedent" to approval of contracts with federal participation out of the 1929-30 allotments of federal aid money, it was revealed by Sam J. Slate, state auditor, in a report of an audit of the highway department filed Tuesday with Governor L. G. Hardman.

The auditor declared that "over-contracting in the year 1928 resulted in the highway department being unable to meet contract payments in the latter part of the year, causing embarrassment to the department and hardship and dissatisfaction to the contractors."

Auditor Slate made the disclosure concerning the necessity of providing reassurances to the federal road department before federal aid money can be made available this year in his forward accompanying the report of the audit.

Situation Discussed.

The auditor discussed at length the highway financial situation in a special supplementary statement he filed with his report.

A total of $30,543,492.98 was spent by the state highway board for actual highway construction during 1928, it was shown.

Total income of the department during the year amounted to $12,909,907.22 and expenditures were $12,715,440.

Among larger items in construction expense schedules were:

For contracts, $9,870,372; surveys, $92,630; plans, $24,497; construction supervision, $472,454, and interest on estimate acceptances, $17,593.

Revenues in 1928 were derived in the following amounts from sources indicated:

Fuel oil tax, $5,157,115; motor vehicle licenses, $3,910,115; federal government, $1,900,250; counties, $1,033,772, and miscellaneous sources, $14,450.

Construction Costs.

A total of $97,015,151 has been spent on actual construction through the highway board since its establishment in 1919, the report said. This money was derived as follows:

From the state, $22,032,724; counties, $23,590,945, and the federal government, $21,385,482. Participation by the state has been constant almost entirely to the past three years, dating from the increase in the gasoline tax. The state now is contributing more than $8,500,000 annually.

Slate said in his statement, compared to $3,800,000 coming from counties and the federal government combined.

"Over-contracting by the highway department in 1928 resulted in the highway treasury being unable to meet contract payments in the latter part of the year," the auditor said in his comments on the report.

To relieve the acute situation, the auditor assigned approved estimates were accepted by the department and these estimates were discounted by the contractors with their banks and other creditors or were hypothecated as collateral security to contractors' indebtedness.

Commenting on the audit, John N. Holder, chairman of the board, said the department's records showed obligations to contractors amounting to $1,000,000 on March 31, including a $1,300,000 contract to pave the Dixie highway from Marietta to Chattanooga.

VICTORY CLAIMED FOR MRS. TALMAGE IN D. A. R. ELECTION

Athens Woman's Supporters Say Important Gains Made in Campaign for Presidency.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, April 16.—On the eve of the spirited contest which will take place tomorrow over the election of national officers of the Daughters of the American Revolution, friends and supporters of Mrs. Julius Y. Talmage, of Athens, Ga., tonight were claiming important gains in her campaign for the presidential nomination of the organization.

The annual convention of the D. A. R. opened here Monday, and the balloting over national officers will start Wednesday night. It is expected to be Thursday, however, before the results are made known. Mrs. Talmage is opposed by Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, of Cincinnati, who is referred to as the "administration candidate," although the present president, general Mrs. Alfred J. Brown, disclaims taking any part in the battle.

While friends of Mrs. Hobart are expressing confidence over the outcome of the election, Mrs. Talmage's managers are none the less optimistic and have been renewing their efforts.

AIRMAN IS KILLED IN GEORGIA CRASH

Charles Kutafy Dead and Henry Waldheim Dying as Result of Crack-up Near Carrollton.

Carrollton, Ga., April 16.—(Special.)—Pilot Charles Kutafy, 25, of Perth Amboy, N. J., was killed instantly, and his passenger, Henry Waldheim, 30, believed to be an airplane distributor of Arlington, N. J., received injuries which are expected to prove fatal when their plane crashed and was demolished in a field near here this afternoon.

Kutafy apparently jumped clear of his ship just before it struck the ground and suffered a broken neck, dying instantly. Waldheim, when extricated from the wreckage, a severe cut about the throat and numerous other bruises and abrasions. Though conscious when taken to a hospital, he was unable to make a coherent statement to throw any light upon the cause of the crash. Physicians stated that his chances for recovery were remote.

A telegram found on Kutafy, who was believed to have been connected with the Gates Flying Circus in New Jersey, and whose home address is 508 Compton avenue, Perth Amboy, indicated that the men had left Tuscaloosa, Ala., but no information was given as to their destination.

Residents saw the plane circle the city several times, apparently in an effort to locate a possible landing place, and it was obvious that the ship was in distress, as it dropped suddenly to an altitude of about 100 feet. Shouts for help by Kutafy and his companion, just as the plane nosed into the field, attracted a huge crowd to the scene. The aircraft, a Waco biplane, was reduced to a mass of splintered wood and twisted metal by the terrific impact.

Disposition of Kutafy's body awaits the arrival of relatives from New Jersey.

ACTION TO SAVE SCHOOL ORDERED

Board Will Be Asked To Vote Funds for Repair Work on Walls at Henry Grady.

Immediate action to prevent further "crumbling" of walls in the Henry Grady high school will be asked of the board of education, the buildings and grounds committee of the board decided unanimously Thursday after an inspection of the school.

The first step toward rehabilitating the building will be to employ the Robert Hunt Company to conduct a series of borings into the tract on which the high school stands, Chairman William Slate of the buildings and grounds committee said. This, Mr. Slate added, will require a week or two.

Completed Soon.

"We hope to get this repair work done within a few weeks," Mr. Slate said. "This building is in such a condition that the students are always in danger."

Members of the committee went over the machine shop section of the building which was built over a filled-in section of land. Gaping cracks in the walls and floorings are likely to cause a total or partial collapse of the section at any time, Charles Bowen, city building inspector, and G. C. Schofield, an engineer associated with the G. Lloyd Preacher Company, told the committee.

The report of Mr. Bowen and Mr. Schofield, who accompanied the committee on its inspection trip, prompted the members to decide on immediate action.

Precautions Necessary.

"Though the board hardly can spare the funds to repair the building at present, we think it would be a great tragedy to let the building stand and something happen that would cause a loss of life," Roy Warren, vice chairman of the committee said. "It is much better to get the building fixed now, no matter what the cost, for we cannot afford to have the students in constant danger."

The high school building, which is located at Eighth and Jackson streets, was built about five years ago. Cracks first were noticed in the walls and floors more than a year ago but efforts to hold the contractor, engineers or architects supervising the construction responsible were unavailing when City Attorney James L. Mayson held in an opinion that the building had been up too long without action being taken to look to anyone connected with its construction for faults found four years after it had been built.

Taxi Driver's Testimony Holds Oil Man on Man- slaughter Charge For Killing in Street Fight.

New York, April 16.—(AP)—Samuel E. Bell, dignified and prosperous looking oil promoter, was released in $10,000 bail today, charged with manslaughter for the death of Arthur Morgan Smith, wealthy Cleveland business man.

Bell was ordered held and the bail was fixed by Magistrate Corrigan in homicide court after a taxi driver testified at the preliminary hearing that he saw Bell knock Smith down early last Friday morning just outside a fashionable Park Avenue hotel, where they had been guests at a party. Smith died that afternoon. A fracture of the skull was the direct cause of death, the doctor who performed the autopsy testified.

A professional bondsman furnished bail. Bell's case will be taken before the grand jury Thursday or Friday, Assistant District Attorney Joseph Pascoello announced.

Into a courtroom crammed with reporters came Mrs. Robert L. Brown, of Lexington, Ky., over whom police charged Bell and Smith had an altercation that led to the fatal blow; Mrs. Robert W. Schutte, the hostess, and half a dozen of the socially prominent who were guests at the party.

A bombardment of flashlights in the corridors outside, which reached in front of the bench, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Schutte, the latter obviously embarrassed, took the witness stand and described the party in Mrs. Schutte's apartment at the Hotel Marguery. Hotel elevator operators, policemen and a taxi driver also described how Smith was found semiconscious on the sidewalk, bleeding at the mouth.

Mrs. Brown emphatically denied Smith had paid her any marked attention during the evening, or that there had been any altercation over Marguery right behind the cab that Bell and Mrs. Brown took, testified that he saw Bell knock Smith down.

In a voice hardly audible Mrs. Schutte said that there had been drinking at her party, but she testified Smith apparently was sober when the party broke up. Mrs. Brown also testified that Smith showed no evidence of being intoxicated.

Reuben Gilbert, a taxi driver who said he drove up in front of the party in the lobby at each opera performance to prevent "scalping" of tickets by speculators.

Chief Beavers instructed Captains G. T. Butler and G. C. Fain to station a man in the lobby at each opera performance to prevent "scalping" of tickets by speculators.

GERMAN DELEGATION REFUSES TO ACCEPT NEW WAR DEBT DRAFT

CONGRESS CLEARS WAY TO CONSIDER FARM BILL TODAY

House and Senate, Speeding Through Work, Adjourn Soon After Hearing Hoover's Message.

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—Congress headed the wishes of the administration for a fast extra session as it sped rapidly through the second day's tasks at the capitol today and cleared the way for business operations.

After hearing the first message of President Hoover, both the senate and house disposed of other immediate business and within an hour adjourned to await the farm relief measures, which are coming from the committees.

The house will formally receive its new $500,000,000 farm marketing control bill from committee tomorrow and will swing into consideration of it Thursday, at which time Chairman McNary of the agriculture committee, said he expected to introduce the relief bill now in formulation by his committee.

Farm Relief Legislation.

President Hoover informed congress at what he expects the extra session to do in the way of farm relief and tariff revision and also recommended enactment of legislation to suspend the national origins clause of the immigration act, to provide for congressional appropriation and for the taking of the 1929 census.

Creation of a federal farm board with authority and funds sufficient to cope with all causes of agricultural distress, was one of the recommendations on the farm problem in his first communication to congress, which was transmitted by messenger to the house and senate by a cathedral.

Limit Tariff Changes.

Counseling congress to limit tariff changes to those industries where there is a decrease of employment, and to insure unimpaired competition in the products of those industries, the chief executive declared trade relations with other countries should be taken into account in revising customs duties.

The president surprised congress with a sweeping recommendation for a reorganization of the tariff commission and the formulation of a new basis for its operations so that it might be able to handle the revision of duties in months instead of years, as has been the case since the flexible provision became effective in 1923.

The chief executive's recommendations on farm relief in his 1,500-word message were drawn from republican leaders in the house and senate, were

SHOT BY BURGLAR, MACON FRATERNAL LEADER NEAR DEATH

Macon, Ga., April 16.—(AP)—E. F. Rowe, manager of the club of the Eagles here, tonight was found on the floor in his home probably fatally wounded in what he described as an encounter with a burglar.

Rowe was found suffering from a bullet wound near the heart by Mrs. Rowe shortly before 10 o'clock tonight, on her return from a religious meeting. She called police to whom the wounded man told a story of a desperate struggle with a burglar who turned Rowe's pistol on him and fired.

Police searched the house and grounds but could find no trace of a gun.

Physicians held little hope for the recovery of Rowe, who until a year ago was a member of the local police force.

GALE RAGES DOWN ATLANTIC COAST

Bungalows Swept to Sea. Small Craft Sink—Rivers Swell to Flood Stage.

New York, April 16.—(AP)—The North Atlantic states were raked today by a northeast rain storm that sank small ships in harbor, swept shore bungalows out to sea and held ocean liners from completing their voyages.

Up through Delaware the gale raged, along the New Jersey coast, through New York and up the New York-Pennsylvania line where several inches of snow fell last night and where today's rain was interspersed with snow.

Rivers were swollen close to flood stage, the tide in New York harbor was four feet higher than normal and within a foot of the top of the battery sea wall. It was one of the highest tides ever recorded by the weather bureau, which said continuation of the storm tomorrow might have serious results.

A tug and two barges, one with a $250,000 cargo of whale oil just brought from the Antarctic by the Sir James Clark Ross, were sunk here, 18 men being rescued from the tug just before it plunged.

On the New Jersey coast bulkheads were torn away and buildings undermined, some of them toppling into the waves to float away to sea. In Philadelphia trees were felled and windows blown in and in Trenton a nine-foot cross was hurled into the street from a cathedral spire.

Six liners, all due today, were held outside this port by the weather. They were the Siboney of the Ward Line, the Mohawk of the Clyde Line, the City of Birmingham of the Savannah Line, the Scythia of the Cunard Line, the Scythia of the Cunard Line and the Avon of the Royal Mail.

WOMAN ARRESTED WHEN POLICE SEIZE 200-GALLON STILL

A 200-gallon copper still, operated by steam, was discovered in full blast in an out-house on Cascade road late yesterday afternoon by the Atlanta Police.

The still was seized by the Atlanta Police, according to a report to county police headquarters by Mrs. J. H. Edwards, who was arrested in the house near the out-house, made $1,000 bond at Fulton tower on a probation charge.

Mrs. Edwards refused to talk about the still and its operators, county police said. Her release on bond was effected by Attorney Len B. Guilbeau.

Lieutenant Carroll said that the operators of the still made their escape through a shallow tunnel which extended from the out-house to a place 50 yards distant, being warned of the approach of the officers by the ringing of a signal bell. The still was dismantled and the copper outfit brought to the courthouse. More than 450 gallons of whiskey and 2,000 gallons of still beer were confiscated, the officers said.

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—Representative George M. Pritchard, a North Carolina republican, who recently declined the office assigned him in the house office building next to that of Representative Oscar De Priest, negro republican from Illinois, still has no office at the capitol.

The North Carolina member and his secretary declined to be interviewed by the matter of the office assigned him in the house office building next to that of Representative Oscar De Priest, negro republican from Illinois, still has no office at the capitol.

Pritchard is understood to be spending quite a lot of his time in the office of Representative Charles A. Jones, another new republican member from North Carolina, awaiting an office vacancy in another part of the building.

Grave Situation Arises in Reparations Conference With Breakdown Freely Predicted.

BERLIN TO SUBMIT OWN PROPOSITION

Delegates Hope To Bridge Impasse by Informal Discussions During Week.

Paris, April 16.—(AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the German delegation, today told his colleagues on the committee that the schedule of reparations annuities demanded by the allied nations exceeded German capacity to pay. He promised to present figures of his own tomorrow, which will be discussed in connection with a memorandum presented by the creditor nations on Saturday.

Dr. Schacht's stand was received in some quarters as merely representing the viewpoint of the German government, which was to be considered by the reparations experts together with the viewpoint of the allies, and in others a rejection of the allied figures.

The attitude of the German delegation was understood by some of the experts as indicating that the allied memorandum should be considered as only one step in the negotiations. By this view the figures that the German delegation will present tomorrow are intended to enable the committee to compare the two sets of figures before taking another step forward.

In German circles it is believed that the German delegation, Dr. Schacht's statements were regarded, however, as meaning more than that and tending to show the determination of the German experts to accept no arrangement unless further reductions were made.

The truth was considered tonight to lie between the two interpretations. There are good reasons for believing that the German desire above all to do nothing to prevent a settlement. At the same time, it was held that they were bound for their own prestige and for the interests of their country to maneuver for the best terms possible.

The change of the German delegation told the experts this morning that Germany's borrowings abroad since the Dawes plan went into operation exceeded her payments to the allies, that there was a considerable deficit in the balance of trade to her detriment and that altogether the annuities proposed by the allies went beyond Germany's ability to pay without further borrowing.

The other experts asked Dr. Schacht if he were satisfied with the figures furnished in explanation of the allied demands, and if he had any suggestions.

J. E. T. BOWDEN, STATE LEGISLATOR, IS CALLED

Ware County Representative Was Author of Workmen's Compensation Act.

Waycross, April 16.—(AP)—J. E. T. Bowden, 44, prominent real estate man, attorney and a representative from Ware county to the legislature, was found dead in bed at his home here early this morning. Dr. Raymond L. Johnson, the man's physician, said death had occurred an hour previous to his arrival at the Bowden home on summons from the son about 5 o'clock and later in the day gave asphyxiation as the cause. The physician said he detected odor of gas in the room upon his arrival and that the son, J. E. T. Bowden, Jr., had said a gas jet in a heater was open and gas escaping when he discovered his father's body.

Dr. C. M. Bradley and Sheriff L. C. Warren were summoned to the home. The sheriff, who was acting as coroner, after conference with the two physicians, said an investigation was not deemed necessary and later in the day when Coroner L. Thomas of Waycross, arrived in the city, a conference was held in the sheriff's office, and it was decided to hold an inquest. Dr. Johnson said. The physician said he would sign the death certificate with asphyxiation as the cause.

The son had reported to the sheriff upon that official's arrival at the home shortly after discovery of the body that his father had seen Dr. Johnson yesterday afternoon, returned home complaining of feeling ill and had retired early. During the night the father was restless, he added, and about 4 o'clock he heard a sound in a room other than the one in which his father slept, and on going to investigate discovered his father in a distressed condition. Death occurred before the doctor arrived.

The deceased came to Waycross as a boy from Jacksonville and had lived here since. He was a former city commissioner and was well known in the state for his interest in the semi-monthly payroll bill and workmen's compensation act when he served in the legislature. He was former state auditor and had planned to introduce a bill to abolish capital punishment in the forthcoming legislative session.

He is survived by his wife, one son and two daughters, Mrs. William Izlar, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Miss Louise Bowden, of Waycross.

State's Statement. In his supplementary statement, Auditor State said:

In order that the people of Georgia may more clearly understand the situation, the highway department released today, it might be well to make an explanatory statement. We showed in round figures an income of $12,000,000, of which $12,000,000 represented the income of the highway department, the $7,000,000 represented the amount that would become due as contracts were completed but of the $2,000,000 was due.

Of the $2,000,000 of contracts due and payable, $3,000,000 has been paid by March 31, 1929; of the remaining $2,000,000, $400,000 represents amounts due contractors mostly closed by acceptance which will be paid this month on receipt of gas tax. Of the $1,500,000 due counties it is extremely difficult to figure a net estimate. Consider one the highway board and the highway board over the counties. Many counties have experienced the fact that the highway board has had difficulty in making payments and the counties have experienced difficulty in collecting amounts due them from the highway board. It is all as a liability of the highway board although probably a fair estimate would be that the net amount due counties is about $500,000.

Report on Contracts. Of the $7,000,000 of contracts now outstanding, after a careful check of engineers' estimates and the reports of the secretary and treasurer of the highway board, it appears from these reports that the active live projects of the highway department for construction total $4,740,388.48.

Contracts with contractors... $2,038,311.53
Contracts with counties... 1,801,631.67
Contracts which state funds are doing the work... 410,106.79

Total... $4,250,050.99

The bridge at Decatur, Ga., over the railroad and the bridge from Harris to Chappie, Ga., in Meriwether county and the Jones Baldwin county construction on the road from Milledgeville to Macon.

The books of the highway department show contracts and commitments of the highway department amounting to $7,000,000. This difference of $2,250,000 is claimed by the highway department to be brought about by the following classes of contracts:

Contracts on which construction has been abandoned for various reasons. Contracts which have been authorized and on which surveys have been made but no actual construction undertaken.

Check On Contracts. The engineering division of the highway department should carefully go over these contracts and make a complete report to highway board and the projects should be eliminated by formal resolution of board if no construction is to be undertaken upon them in the next 12 months.

These projects can be reopened at any time. These projects are placed on income balance ledger by order of board and can only be taken off by formal decision of board as the accounting officers must show why these projects were eliminated.

The third class consists of projects in which counties are doing grading, etc., preparatory to paving and no money is to be paid. While these projects are carried on a 75-25 basis, still the agreement is that when hard-surfacing is completed a final settlement will be made and most of these projects will be absorbed by journal entries and go into county participation not disturbing the cash resources of the board.

In my judgment as the federal fiscal year 1930 funds and the highway board by using the same judgment, they have and played in the present time in 1929 and the same caution in making contracts will be able to pay estimates promptly when due.

It must be remembered that the state calendar year runs from January 1 to December 31 and the federal fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30 so there will always exist some overlapping of federal aid contracts.

These figures as to live projects are taken from highway books and we believe to be accurate but as figures it is impossible for us to check and we can in no way verify as to live figures we can use only the ones shown in our audit and a matter of record in the highway department, and these figures cannot be changed until highway board takes formal action.

We make this explanation, however, as people of Georgia are intensely interested in highway development and that available data may be before them.

Another Cool Morning Seen For City Today

Still another cool morning is in store for Atlanta today, a repetition of Tuesday's minimum of 50 being expected, but from then on clear skies will allow Old Sol to do his stuff in the most approved fashion, resulting in a maximum of about 70, 15 degrees above Tuesday's high point, according to the forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist.

A rather violent windstorm on the Atlantic coast, where an exceptionally low barometric reading was recorded, was given as the explanation for the chilly blast Tuesday which had many Atlantans heaving to that tuffetful, "Button Up Your Overcoat."

Breezes here ranged from 25 to 35 miles an hour during most of the day, while the storm area was buffeted by a 70-mile gale. Even the rushing of the wind hither and you is expected to cease by this morning, and with higher temperatures and clear skies, an ideal day is in prospect.

Despite the fact Tuesday morning was decidedly chilly, nothing even approaching a record in the way of temperatures was established. Mr. von Herrmann pointed out that on April 25, 1910, the thermometer registered an even 32 and Atlanta was covered with two and one-half inches of snow.

MEXICAN TEXTILE WORKERS PLANNING STRIKE THURSDAY

Mexico City, April 16.—(AP)—The National Federation of Textile Workers has ordered a general strike effective Thursday of all workers af-iliated with the organization. Eleven thousand are said to be affected, most of them in the cotton mills of the federal district and states of Puebla, Tlaxcala, Guanajuato and Michoacan. The strike order grew out of a dismissal of several union men by a Mexican City mill owner. The case was taken up by the national arbitration council which upheld the owner's action, whereupon the federation called a meeting and decided to strike.

J. B. FILM is Cloudy Teeth are white and sparkling

Film discolors teeth and then destroys them. Dentists urge a special way to remove it.

DENTAL science knows what robs teeth of brilliant whiteness. It is film, a constant menace. It clings to teeth and gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs stains from food and smoking to turn white teeth "off color" and cloud their brilliance. Film hardens into tartar. Germs breed in it, and they, plus tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. To remove film, dentists prescribe the special film-

Thursday with a program featured by speakers prominent in railroad and legal circles.

Among speakers addressing the initial session of the railroad protective section conference Tuesday were Clint W. Hager, United States district attorney; John A. Boykin, solicitor-general of Fulton county; Judge Price Gilbert, of the Georgia supreme court, and A. E. Clift, president of the Central of Georgia Railway.

R. H. Ashton, president of the American Railway Association, whose talk on the opening program of the convention was among those attracting widest attention, outlined the increased efficiency and vigilance of the police forces of the various railroads in recent years. He declared that "robberies of freight on the railroads of this country in 1923 amounted to less per car than the cost of mailing a letter."

The enormous scope of the work of protecting the nation's commerce from thieves can best be realized by the fact that the railroads last year handled 51,576,000 carloads of revenue freight, of which approximately one-third consisted of valuable merchandise," President Ashton explained.

In addition to President Hill and Dean Keeble, Dr. Gus Dyer, professor of economics at Vanderbilt university, is scheduled to be among the principal speakers at the convention sessions today. A high light of the convention program will be the annual banquet tonight at the Biltmore hotel.

HUMAN ADDING MACHINE'S CAREER SUDDENLY ENDS

Peoria, Ill., April 16.—(AP)—William Strong, the man who could compute figures with the speed of an adding machine—and never knew how he did it—is dead.

He would stand beside a railroad track as a long freight rolled by, observing the car numbers, and when the caboose flashed past he would announce the total as correctly as the tabulator with paper and pad who stood beside him.

Merchants employed him at inventory time, in place of using adding machines. He would tell engineers how many bricks would be needed for a wall; compute cube root; give exact ages the instant a birth date was given him. Always to the question, "How do you do it?" he would answer, "I do not know."

Strong, who was 50 years old, died yesterday on a railroad viaduct near Bartonsville, a suburb, where he was in the habit of going daily to perform the feat of box car numbers, "just to keep in practice," he said.

one problem," said the senator. "Law enforcement presupposes good citizenship. Good citizenship presupposes education."

By way of explanation of his advocacy of the commission plan for bringing about changes contemplated by him, he said the "average legislator" cannot prepare and introduce the necessary measures without help from other men, "just as the legislature as a whole cannot intelligently pass upon problems it has never studied and does not understand."

$25,000 DAMAGES ASKED IN ALLEGED THROWING OF ACID

A suit seeking $25,000 damages for injuries to his eyes and face, alleged to have been inflicted when strong ammonia water was thrown into his face February 13, was filed Tuesday by R. W. Little, 21, pharmacist in McDonald's drugstore. The petition names as defendants Edwin Meyers, B. Bettis, Jr., Edward Springer and E. L. Springer.

Little charges that as he stepped out of the front door of the drugstore, Meyers threw ammonia into his face, and that Bettis and Edward Springer were ready with more of the ammonia in case Meyers' aim missed. The plaintiff alleges that E. L. Springer, father of Edward Springer, knowingly allowed the use of his automobile in order that Bettis and Edward Springer might go to a drugstore and obtain the ammonia. Little alleges that he was totally blind for two weeks, and has partially recovered the use of his right eye, but is still unable to use the left eye. The petition asks appointment of a guardian for the minor defendants. The paper was filed by Hutcheson and Bellinger, attorneys.

MERCK CABLES DENIAL OF ATLANTA ADDRESS

Friends of Professor Declares Constitution Right. Speer in Error.

Berlin, April 16.—(AP)—Mayor Harburg, who cabled Dr. Walter Merck in New York for a copy of the manuscript of the lecture he made February 16 before the southeastern citizenship conference in Atlanta, today received a cable from Merck denying statements appearing in The Atlanta Constitution which the German educator said "misunderstood" the lecture.

Dr. Merck referred to reports of the lecture which he said quoted him as stating "since Locarno, Alsace Lorraine no longer exists as source of friction."

Nationalist papers here commented that it was unfortunate and unfortunate to so present the German position.

Saturday the matter was brought before the Prussian diet here by the German nationalist party, which asked if Merck, a professor at Lincoln school, an experimental school of Co-at Chover field here.

lumbia university at New York, was quoted correctly in The Constitution's report of his lecture.

Dr. Walter Merck's address at the Emory university southeastern citizenship conference in February as reported in The Constitution February 17, and which has since become the subject of controversy in Germany, was substantially as given in this newspaper, leading members of the conference stated last Saturday and Sunday.

While all who heard Dr. Merck state that they believed the German professor intended to fully qualify his statement, they said that the report of his address as given in The Constitution was correct. Dr. Merck is a leading political science instructor in his country and all who have spoken of the controversy which has arisen have expressed regret that a foreigner in this country should have been the victim of a mistake due to his making a statement which was not exactly as it intended it to be.

Tibbett, Opera Star, Hunting Room for His Dog, Big as Pony

"METCO" JUST A PET MASTIFF

METCO.

Wanted, one room with bath, for opera. This room need not be comfortably furnished, according to the usual legend, but it must be close in.

Before any home owners with available rooms hasten to list their space with Manger Harry Tibbett, of the Robert Fulton hotel, who is making the search, it might be well to add that the intended occupant is none other than Metro, the prize mastiff belonging to Lawrence Tibbett, leading baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Mr. Tibbett, an old friend of Mr. Tibbett, received this reservation request in the course of the day's mail Tuesday. He had visions of being able to accommodate Metro without undue exertion on his own premises.

fill his eye chanced to light upon the final paragraph in Mr. Tibbett's letter. "But please remember," it read, "that Metro is just two hands smaller than a pony. And then the hotel manager concluded that he had better advertise for quarters on the outside."

Metro hails from California, Mr. Tibbett's native state, and was presented to the artist several years ago by one of the natives of his home town of Bakersfield after he had made his big hit at the Metropolitan. As a traveling companion, the great mastiff has proved a real liability, but the friendship between man and dog is so close that Mr. Tibbett insists upon bringing him south this season.

Paris, April 16.—(AP)—Seven hundred of the Leviathan's passengers who departed at Cherbourg this morning came to Paris this afternoon, most of them unaware of the rumors over two hemispheres that they had whopped it up with alcoholic refreshments during the liner's first trip under private ownership.

The Leviathan's 600 bottles of medicinal whiskey and brandy still remained securely corked under lock and key in the liner's storeroom when the ship reached Cherbourg shortly after dawn.

French wine merchants went out in the bay to meet her, but came away without receiving any orders. The steamship officials announced, however, that in pursuance of instructions from the United States Lines, Inc., the vessel would serve wine on the return voyage to New York.

All the passengers landed today agreed that the trip was no wetter and no drier than those they had experienced in the past on American ships. Bootleggers, New York and bootleggers aboard the ship provided liquor for those who sought it at prices above those charged on foreign ships.

Shooting victim is out of danger, physicians state. The condition of Frank Burnett, 25, in Grady hospital with two bullet wounds inflicted by the gun of an irate husband who accused him of undue friendship with his wife, Tuesday night was said to have passed out of a critical stage.

C. H. Compton, 51, of 844 DeKalb avenue, is being held on suspicion by police pending the outcome of Burnett's injuries. Compton said he returned home from work at 2 a. m. and found Burnett with Mrs. Compton. Burnett claims he was at the Compton home with both the man and his wife, and that he was shot in a drunken brawl.

Mr. Everett now is a graduate student and assistant in zoology at Duke university and will take the chair of psychology at Emory Junior. The new member of the faculty is a graduate of Mercer university, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1924. He also received his degree of bachelor of science in education and his master of arts at the same institution. He has since taught as assistant instructor of biology at Mercer and as professor of psychology and biology at Will Mayfield college in Missouri.

Mrs. Everett is a daughter of Dr. Walter Anthony, of Savannah, one of the leading ministers of the South Georgia Methodist conference.

STATE SCHOOL HEADS WILL CONVEENE TODAY

Meeting of Superintendents Will Precede Opening of Education Convention.

Savannah, Ga., April 16.—(AP)—The first activity of the Georgia Education Association's sixty-fourth annual convention which opens Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the municipal auditorium, will take place tomorrow afternoon with the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Georgia Superintendents and Public School Officials Association which convenes at 2 o'clock in the auditorium of the First Baptist church.

State Superintendent M. L. Dugan is ex-officio chairman of this association. Governor L. G. Hardman is expected to address the superintendents tomorrow night. On the program which lasts through Thursday afternoon are the following nationally-known educators: Dr. Peyton Jacobs, Mercer university; Chancellor C. M. Snelling, University of Georgia; Miss Florence Hale, rural school supervisor, state department of education, Maine; and Dr. Uel M. Lankin, president of the National Education Association.

Care of public school property, training of teachers in service, supervision of school administration in the state educational administration, supervision in county systems, text books, taxation, retirement funds and development of negro schools, are among the topics of the addresses.

Kyle T. Alfriend, secretary of the Georgia Education Association, has installed his office in Hotel DeSoto and preparations for the convention are complete. President E. George Butler, of the board of trade, chairman of the citizens committee for the entertainment and housing of the 4,000 or more delegates expected, announces the completion of all plans for the comfort and pleasure of the convention.

The home demonstration agents of Georgia, representing 75 counties of Georgia, and with a full attendance reporting, is now in session. The Macon, Atlanta, Augusta and Savannah districts are convening for the first time, the object of this being to study of problems in the individual districts.

Geneva, April 16.—(AP)—Maximum displacement of battleships set at 35,000 tons as against 35,000 tons fixed at the Washington conference is one of the radical provisions introduced before the preparatory disarmament commission by the soviet delegation in a plan which will be considered beginning tomorrow.

With great earnestness, Maxim Litvinoff, chief of the soviet representatives, today told members of the commission that this soviet project offered the only hope for that reduction of armament burdens for which the peoples of the world are anxiously waiting.

M. Litvinoff welcomed the Kellogg pact as a real instrument of peace but warned the conference that the dangers of war still haunted humanity. He said he hoped the Russian plan would be substituted for the draft treaty now before the commission, which he thought not of a nature to lead to a genuine solution of the disarmament problems.

Some delegates have privately voiced their opinion that excellent points in the soviet scheme could be woven in the League of Nations draft. Others maintained that the scheme should be rejected in its totality as impracticable and that the commission should strictly follow the original league draft, hoping to perfect that by patient endeavors.

Whatever may be the fate of the soviet project, all the delegates were tonight carefully scrutinizing its text and making ready for a serious discussion which it is almost certain to bring on. They found that besides limiting the size of all warships to a maximum of 10,000 tons, the scheme called for the disappearance of all aircraft carriers and for the disarmament of all military dirigibles and aircraft so they could not be utilized for any military purpose. Nations possessing a navy with a total strength of 200,000 tons would, under the soviet plan, reduce their naval forces by one-half and those with less than 200,000 tons by one-fourth.

Mayor I. N. Bagdikian Tuesday had not reached many of the important papers which city council passed to him for approval Monday. Pressure of other business occupied his time and he will get to them today, he said.

SOVIET ASKS BIG CUT IN WARSHIP TONNAGE

Meeting of Superintendents Will Precede Opening of Education Convention.

Savannah, Ga., April 16.—(AP)—The first activity of the Georgia Education Association's sixty-fourth annual convention which opens Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the municipal auditorium, will take place tomorrow afternoon with the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Georgia Superintendents and Public School Officials Association which convenes at 2 o'clock in the auditorium of the First Baptist church.

State Superintendent M. L. Dugan is ex-officio chairman of this association. Governor L. G. Hardman is expected to address the superintendents tomorrow night. On the program which lasts through Thursday afternoon are the following nationally-known educators: Dr. Peyton Jacobs, Mercer university; Chancellor C. M. Snelling, University of Georgia; Miss Florence Hale, rural school supervisor, state department of education, Maine; and Dr. Uel M. Lankin, president of the National Education Association.

Care of public school property, training of teachers in service, supervision of school administration in the state educational administration, supervision in county systems, text books, taxation, retirement funds and development of negro schools, are among the topics of the addresses.

Kyle T. Alfriend, secretary of the Georgia Education Association, has installed his office in Hotel DeSoto and preparations for the convention are complete. President E. George Butler, of the board of trade, chairman of the citizens committee for the entertainment and housing of the 4,000 or more delegates expected, announces the completion of all plans for the comfort and pleasure of the convention.

The home demonstration agents of Georgia, representing 75 counties of Georgia, and with a full attendance reporting, is now in session. The Macon, Atlanta, Augusta and Savannah districts are convening for the first time, the object of this being to study of problems in the individual districts.

Geneva, April 16.—(AP)—Maximum displacement of battleships set at 35,000 tons as against 35,000 tons fixed at the Washington conference is one of the radical provisions introduced before the preparatory disarmament commission by the soviet delegation in a plan which will be considered beginning tomorrow.

With great earnestness, Maxim Litvinoff, chief of the soviet representatives, today told members of the commission that this soviet project offered the only hope for that reduction of armament burdens for which the peoples of the world are anxiously waiting.

M. Litvinoff welcomed the Kellogg pact as a real instrument of peace but warned the conference that the dangers of war still haunted humanity. He said he hoped the Russian plan would be substituted for the draft treaty now before the commission, which he thought not of a nature to lead to a genuine solution of the disarmament problems.

Some delegates have privately voiced their opinion that excellent points in the soviet scheme could be woven in the League of Nations draft. Others maintained that the scheme should be rejected in its totality as impracticable and that the commission should strictly follow the original league draft, hoping to perfect that by patient endeavors.

-it is better!

"Why," you ask "is Merita better than any other bread?"

Well here is the "why" in six simple logical reasons.

1. Merita is better because it is richer.

2. Because it contains only the very best and purest ingredients.

3. Because every ingredient is laboratory tested for purity, nutritive value and high quality before it ever enters into the baking of Merita Bread.

4. Because Merita is scientifically blended, properly and evenly baked by master bakers of years of experience.

5. Because of its extra "goodness" in satisfying flavor, and health-building qualities.

6. Because it slices better and stays fresh longer than ordinary bread.

So, it is logical to believe that if Merita tastes better, slices better and gives better health — it surely must be a better bread. Test it yourself — with any other bread, . . . then you'll know Merita is a better bread.

They got behind the wheel . . got the facts . . and bought BUICKS!

A great country wide outpouring of preference for the 1929 Buick has followed the great countrywide movement by motor car buyers to "get behind the wheel and get the facts" about Buick's matchless new order of performance!

Men and women in every community have discovered that this dynamic car provides an advanced standard of motoring—that it out-runs, out-climbs, out-performs any automobile they have ever driven—that it is exactly what Buick owners say it is: the finest performing automobile ever built!

More than 130,000 men and women have entered orders for the new Buick. More than twice as many people have purchased Buicks as any other automobile listing above $1200! And additional thousands are getting behind the wheel, getting the facts and entering orders for Buicks with each passing week.

Matchless style, matchless comfort and, above all, matchless performance, are the reasons. Come, prove these things to your own satisfaction. Take the wheel of this car—test it against any other—and you, too, will join in the countrywide endorsement of Buick!

Hoover's Message Urges Farm Relief And Limited Changes in Tariff

Would Redeem Two Pledges Made Last Fall During Presidential Campaign.

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—Here is the full text of President Hoover's message to the special session of congress:

To the Congress of the United States: I have called this special session of congress to redeem two pledges given in the last election—farm relief and limited changes in the tariff. The difficulties of the agricultural industry arise out of a multitude of causes. A heavy indebtedness was inherited by the industry from the deflation processes of 1920. Disorderly and wasteful methods of marketing have developed. The growing specialization in the industry has for years been increasing the proportion of products that now leave the farm and, in consequence, prices have been unduly depressed by congested marketing at the harvest or probably the occasional climatic surplus. Railway rates have necessarily increased. There has been a growth of competition in the world markets from countries that enjoy cheaper labor or more nearly virgin soils. There was a great expansion of production from our marginal lands during the war, and upon those profitable enterprises under normal conditions can not be maintained. Meanwhile their continued output tends to aggravate the situation. Local taxes have doubled and in some cases tripled. Work animals have been steadily replaced by mechanical appliances, thereby decreasing the consumption of farm products. There are many other contributing causes.

Merely Problem of Method. The general reason has been that our agricultural industry has not kept pace in prosperity or standards of living with other lines of industry.

There being no disagreement as to the need of farm relief, the problem before us becomes one of method by which relief may be most successfully brought about. Because of the multitude of causes and because agriculture is not one industry but a score of industries, we are confronted not with a single problem alone but a great number of problems. Therefore there is no single plan or principle that can be generally applied. Some of the forces working to the detriment of agriculture can be greatly mitigated by improving our waterway transportation; some of them by readjustment of the tariff; some by better understanding and adjustment of production needs, and some by improvement in the methods of marketing.

An effective tariff upon agricultural products, that will compensate the farmer's higher costs and higher standards of living, has a dual purpose.

Terse Hoover Sentences In Message to Congress

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—Here are some of the terse sentences in the first message submitted to congress by President Hoover:

The government has a special mandate from the recent election, not only to further develop our waterways and revise the agricultural tariff, but also to extend systematic relief in other directions.

Every penny of waste between farmer and consumer that we can eliminate, whether it arises from methods of distribution or from hazard or speculation, will be a gain to both farmer and consumer.

Certain vital principles must be adhered to in order that we may not undermine the freedom of our farmers and of our people as a whole by bureaucratic and governmental domination and interference. We must not undermine initiative.

There should be no fee or tax imposed upon the farmer.

No governmental agency should engage in the buying and selling and price fixing of products, for such courses can lead only to bureaucracy and domination.

The difficulties of agriculture cannot be cured in a day; they cannot all be cured by legislation; they cannot be cured by the federal government alone. But farmers and their organizations can be assisted to overcome these inequalities.

No discrimination against any foreign industry is involved in equalizing the difference in costs of production at home and abroad and thus taking from foreign producers the advantages they derive from paying lower wages to labor.

In a large sense we have learned that the cheapening of the toiler decreases rather than promotes permanent prosperity because it reduces the consuming power of the people.

Such a tariff not only protects the farmer in our domestic market but it also stimulates him to diversify his crops and to grow products that he could not otherwise produce, and thus lessens his dependence upon exports to foreign markets. The great expansion of production abroad under the conditions I have mentioned renders foreign competition in our export markets increasingly serious. It seems but natural, therefore, that the American farmer, having been greatly handicapped in his foreign market by such competition from the younger exporting countries, should ask that foreign access to our domestic market should be regulated by taking into account the differences in our costs of production.

Farming Out of Politics. The government has a special mandate from the recent election, not only to further develop our waterways and revise the agricultural tariff, but also to extend systematic relief in other directions.

I have long held that the multiplicity of causes of agricultural depression could only be met by the creation of a great instrumentalities clothed with sufficient authority and resources to assist our farmers to meet these problems, each upon its own merits. The creation of such an agency would at once transfer the agriculture question from the field of politics into the realm of economics and would result in constructive action. The administration is pledged to create an instrumentalities that will investigate the causes, find sound remedies, and have the authority and resources to apply those remedies.

The pledged purpose of such a federal agency would be to assist in the creation of a more stable and more economic line of the marketing system on sounder and more stable and more economic lines. To do this the board will require funds to assist in creating and sustaining farmer-owned and farmer-controlled agencies for a variety of purposes, such as the acquisition of adequate warehousing and other facilities for marketing; adequate working capital to be advanced against consignment of crops; necessary and prudent advances to corporations created and owned by farmers' marketing organizations for the purchase and orderly marketing of surplus crops occasioned by climatic variations or by harvest congestion; to authorize the creation of clearing houses for perishable products, through which, under producers' approval, co-operation can be established with distributors and processors to more orderly marketing of commodities and for the elimination of waste in distribution; and to provide for licensing of handlers of some perishable products so as to eliminate unfair practices. Every penny of waste between farmer and consumer that we can eliminate, whether it arises from methods of distribution or from hazard or speculation, will be a gain to both farmer and consumer.

No Fee To Be Imposed. In addition to these special provisions in the direction of improved returns, the board should be organized to investigate every field of economic betterment for the farmer so as to furnish guidance as to (a) use in production; to devise methods for elimination of unprofitable marginal lands and their adaptation to other uses; to develop industrial by-products and to survey a score of other fields of helpfulness. Certain safeguards must naturally surround these activities and the instrumentalities that are created. Certain vital principles must be adhered to in order that we may not undermine the freedom of our farmers and of our people as a whole by bureaucratic and governmental domination and interference. We must not undermine initiative. There should be no fee or tax imposed upon the farmer. No governmental agency should engage in the buying and selling and price-fixing of products, for such courses can lead only to bureaucracy and domination. Government funds should not be loaned or facilities duplicated where other services of credit and facilities are available at reasonable rates. No activities should be set on foot that will result in increasing the surplus production, as such will defeat any plans or relief. The most progressive movement in all agriculture has been the upbuilding of the farmers' own marketing organizations, which now embrace nearly two million farmers' membership and annually distribute nearly $2,500,000,000 worth of farm products. These organizations have acquired experience in virtually every branch of their industry, and furnish a substantial basis upon which to build further progress. Not all these marketing organizations are farmer-owned or farmer-controlled. In order to strengthen and not to undermine them, all proposals for governmental assistance should originate with such organizations and be the result of their application. Moreover, by such bases of organization the government will be removed from engaging in the business of agriculture.

Must Readjust Tariff. The tariff cannot be cured in a day; they cannot all be cured by legislation; they cannot be cured by the federal government alone. But farmers and their organizations can be assisted to overcome these inequalities. Every effort of this character is an experiment, and we shall learn from experience the way to further advance. We must make a start. With the creation of a great instrumentalities of this character, of the utmost importance equal to that of those which we have created for transportation and banking, we give immediate assurance of the government's purpose to meet the difficulties of which we are now aware, and to create an agency through which constructive action for the future will be assured.

In this treatment of this problem we recognize the responsibility of the people and we shall lay the foundations for a new day in agriculture, from which we shall preserve to the nation the great values of its individuality and strengthen our whole national fabric.

In considering the tariff for other industries, agriculture is the one that has been economic shift necessitating a readjustment of some of the tariff schedules. Seven years' experience under the tariff enacted in 1922 have demonstrated the wisdom of congress in the enactment of that measure. On the whole it has worked well. In the main our exports and imports have steadily increased, with some exceptions. Our export and import have been prosperous. Nevertheless, economic changes have taken place during that time, which have placed certain domestic products at a disadvantage and new industries have come into being, some of which create the necessity for some limited changes in the schedules and in the administrative features of the laws as written in 1922.

No Foreign Discrimination. It would seem to me that the test of necessity for revision is in the main whether there has been a substantial slackening of activity in our industry during the past few years, and a consequent decrease of employment due to insurmountable competition in that industry.

It is not as if we were setting up a new basis of protective duties. We are not increasing the tariff. What we need to remedy now is whatever substantial loss of employment may have resulted from shifts since that time. No discrimination against any foreign industry is involved in equalizing the difference in costs of production at home and abroad and thus taking from foreign producers the advantages they derive from paying lower wages to labor. Indeed, such a tariff not only protects the farmer in our domestic market but it also stimulates him to diversify his crops and to grow products that he could not otherwise produce, and thus lessens his dependence upon exports to foreign markets.

May Pass, Reapportionment. I am impressed with the fact that we also need important revision in some of the administrative phases of the tariff. The tariff commission should be reorganized and placed upon a basis of higher salaries in order that we may at all times command men of the broadest attainments, whose experience have proved the principle of flexible tariff to be practical, and in the long view a most important principle to maintain. However, the basis upon which the tariff commission makes its recommendations to the president for administrative changes in the rates of duty should be made more automatic and more comprehensive, to the end that the time required for determinations by the tariff commission shall be greatly shortened. The formula upon which the commission must now act often requires only months. Its very purpose is defeated by delays. I believe a formula can be found that will insure rapid and accurate determination of needed changes in rates. With such strengthening of the tariff commission and of its basis for action many secondary changes in the tariff will be left to action by the commission, which at the same time will give complete security to industry for the future.

Furthermore, considerable weaknesses on the administrative side of the tariff have developed, especially in the valuation for assessments of duty. There are cases of undervaluation that are difficult to discover without access to the books of foreign exporters, which they are reluctant to offer. This has become also a great source of friction abroad. There is increasing shipment of goods on consignment, particularly by foreign shippers to concerns that they control in the United States, and this practice makes valuation difficult to determine. I believe it is desirable to furnish to the treasury sounder basis for valuation in these and other cases. It is my understanding that it is the purpose of the leaders of congress to confine the deliberations of the session mainly to the questions of farm relief and tariff. In this policy I concur. There are, however, certain matters of emergency legislation that were partially completed in the last session, such as the decennial census, the reapportionment of congressional representation, and the suspension of the national origins clause of the immigration act of 1927 together with some minor administrative authorizations. I understand that these measures will be readjusted without unduly extending the session. I recommend their consummation as being in the public interest.

CONGRESS CLEARS WAY FOR FARM AID BILL

assailed as nebulous by the democratic leaders and proved disappointing to some of the senate group of independent republicans.

"Inconsistent," Says Brookhart. Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, who made many speeches for Mr. Hoover in the farm belt last fall, said the president's position now was inconsistent with that after the World War when as food administrator he bought and sold grain through the grain corporation, a government organization.

Senator Norbeck, of South Dakota, said "Mr. Hoover shows as much sympathy for the farmer as did President Coolidge and states his position fully as well."

Having reached the senate chamber too late to hear all of the message read, Senator Borah, of Idaho, withheld comment. He was one of the foremost opponents of the equalization fee system of farm relief, campaigned through the west for Hoover and had a strong voice in the calling of the extra session.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, and Senator Watson, of Indiana, the democratic leaders, Representative Garner, of Texas, and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, did not.

Fight on Tariff Revision. Minority leaders generally gave notice of a fight over tariff revision and particularly on the proposition of continuing the tariff commission.

Outlined by the president, the pledged purpose of the federal farm board would be the reorganization of the marketing system on more stable and more economic lines. It would have authority to assist in creating and sustaining farmer-owned and farmer-controlled agencies for a variety of purposes.

Some of these purposes as envisioned by Mr. Hoover would be the orderly marketing of surplus crops occasioned by climatic variations or by harvest congestion; creation of clearing houses, especially for perishable products, through which, under producers' approval, co-operation can be established with distributors and processors to more orderly marketing of commodities and for the elimination of waste in distribution; and to provide for licensing of handlers of some perishable products so as to eliminate unfair practices. Every penny of waste between farmer and consumer that we can eliminate, whether it arises from methods of distribution or from hazard or speculation, will be a gain to both farmer and consumer.

Powers of Farm Board. It also was proposed that the board be authorized to investigate every field of economic betterment for the farmer so as to furnish guidance as to (a) use in production; to devise methods for elimination of unprofitable marginal lands and their adaptation to other uses; to develop industrial by-products; and to survey a score of other fields of helpfulness.

Sagebirds should be provided, Mr. Hoover said, so that initiative may not be undermined and government agencies may not engage in the buying and selling and price-fixing of products, for such courses can lead only to bureaucracy and domination. Government funds should not be loaned or facilities duplicated where other services of credit and facilities are available at reasonable rates. No activities should be set on foot that will result in increasing the surplus production.

Mr. Hoover said the difficulties of agriculture could not be cured in a day and that not all of them could be cured by the federal government alone. He emphasized, however, that the government must make a start, and by creating an instrumentalities of a strength and importance equal to those of the interstate commerce commission and the federal reserve board, he contended that immediate assurance would be given of a determination of the government to meet the farmers' difficulties.

Acts Upon Nominations. The senate, at the suggestion of Senator Watson, of Indiana, the majority leader, went into executive session after the brief open session today to act upon two of the many important executive nominations forwarded to it a short time before by Mr. Hoover.

Immediate confirmations were given the nominations of Charles G. Dawes, former vice president, to be ambassador to Great Britain, and of Joseph L. Dixon, former Montana senator, to be the first assistant secretary of interior. The other nominations were sent to committees, in accordance with regular practice.

The three committees which house leaders have decided to organize for the extra session were duly elected today by the house.

They are the committees on ways and means, agriculture, and rules. Thursday-Monday Adjournment. It is the plan for the senate to adjourn from Thursday to Monday. The Thursday meeting will permit Senator McNary to introduce the farm bill. He told the senate today he would be ready to submit a formal report on it by Monday and that he would then ask that it be kept at the top of the calendar.

President Hoover sent 96 nominations to the senate, two of which were confirmed, immediately and prepared to transmit a number of others tomorrow, including those for four or five federal judges for New York state.

Selections of Charles G. Dawes as ambassador to Great Britain and Joseph L. Dixon as first assistant interior secretary were approved by the senate without the formality of their nominations being sent to a committee for the usual consideration and report.

Mr. Dawes, as vice president, presided over the senate for four years and immediate action on his appointment was obtained by Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee.

Mr. Dixon once served as a senator from Montana and his nomination was approved on motion of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana.

Few New Appointments. Save for more than a score of postmasters in several states and some officers in the officers reserve corps, the only new appointments sent to the senate were those of O. B. Colquitt, former governor of Texas, as a member of the railway mediation board; James M. Morin, of Pennsylvania, a former representative, as a member of the employees' compensation board, and Charles J. Rhoads, a Philadelphia banker, as commissioner of Indian affairs.

Recess appointees whose nominations were received were Ernest Lee Jabucke, of Louisiana, and David S. Ingalls, of Ohio, as assistant secretaries of the navy; Patrick J. Hurley, of Oklahoma, as assistant secretary of war, and Charles McK. Satter, of Iowa, as a member of the federal radio commission.

Former Governor Colquitt succeeds another former Texas governor, Pat Neff, on the mediation board. While a democrat, Mr. Colquitt was a vigorous supporter of President Hoover in the last campaign, leading the Hoover-for-president democratic organization.

Mr. Neff was renominated by President Coolidge to succeed himself, but his nomination failed of confirmation at the last session.

Rhoads Succeeds Burke. Mr. Rhoads, who is president of the American Indian Rights Association, succeeds to the position made vacant by the resignation of Charles H. Burke, who had headed the Indian bureau in the interior department for a number of years. Mr. Burke later is to be given another appointment in the federal service.

With 300 bills and resolutions introduced in the house today, the total for the first two days of the special congressional session was brought to more than 1,000. The senate has yet to receive its first legislative proposal.

One bill introduced today by Representative Glover, democrat, Arkansas, would prevent the sale of cotton and grain in future markets by making it unlawful to send, transmit and execute orders or purchase or sale of grain or cotton without intending actual delivery, or showing that the commodities were possessed for sale. Severe penalties would be provided under the measure.

A bill by Representative Schaffer, republican, Wisconsin, would amend the national prohibition act to permit the manufacture, transportation and sale of beverages of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content by weight.

CHARLESTON MAY GET NEW CRUISER WORK

Naval Aide Declares Yard Fully Equipped for Building Craft.

Having the cheapest labor on the Atlantic seaboard and with a plentiful supply of necessary material within easy hauling distance, there is at least a chance that the Charleston navy yard will be allotted the construction of one of the navy's 15 new cruisers, in the opinion of Captain William Annum, captain of the yard and assistant commandant of the sixth naval district, who was in Atlanta Tuesday.

Captain Annum was here to attend the annual "open house" of the Atlanta naval reserve battalion.

"Of course nothing definite has been decided yet," Captain Annum said, "and probably will not be for some weeks, but in the meantime, we are continuing our investigations as to available labor and materials and we feel that when all this information is forwarded to Washington, there is a possibility if not a probability, that we will get the contract."

He pointed out that Charleston was the only location on the Atlantic coast south of Norfolk where ships of this size could be constructed and that what extra equipment would be necessary would in all probability have to be provided anyway. An appropriation of $300,000 has been made by congress for increasing the facilities of the yard, he stated, and with these improvements installed, there is no reason why one of the cruisers should not be constructed there.

"Not only would Charleston be greatly benefited if this proposal should go through," the captain continued, "but the entire southeast as well. In my opinion the industrial expansion of this section is not fully appreciated, and there are numerous firms which are capable of supplying the steel and other materials that go into a cruiser, which might secure some of the contracts to their advantage."

Captain Annum Tuesday night attended the "open house" and exhibition drill staged by the Atlanta naval reserve battalion and presented the cups for outstanding service to the winners in each of the two divisions of the battalion.

Other guests included Lieutenant S. H. Wells, of Charleston, personnel director of the sixth district; Commander John J. London, head of the naval R. O. T. C. at Georgia Tech, and three army officers from Tech who acted as judges in the manual of arms competition.

MAYOR TO APPOINT COMMITTEE TODAY TO STUDY TRAFFIC

Appointment of a special traffic commission to assist representatives of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in its survey of Atlanta's traffic conditions is expected today.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale will make the selection in accordance with the wishes of W. Graham Cole, traffic expert of the company, who is in Atlanta making preliminary arrangements for the investigation which will permit handling of the city's ever-increasing traffic congestion problem in a scientific manner.

Mr. Ragsdale, Mr. Cole, E. Stevens, president of the Atlanta Safety Council, and George Deibert, secretary of the council, Tuesday held a conference concerning the matter.

The mayor will take the matter under advisement and probably will complete his selections today.

BONDSMEN SCORED FOR CHARGING FEES FOR CONTINUANCES

Contempt of court proceedings against bondsmen who are alleged to collect fees from clients for obtaining continuances were threatened Tuesday by Judge Jesse M. Wood, of city criminal court, in a short talk from the bench. Judge Wood said that it had been brought to his attention that certain bondsmen were engaging in such a practice.

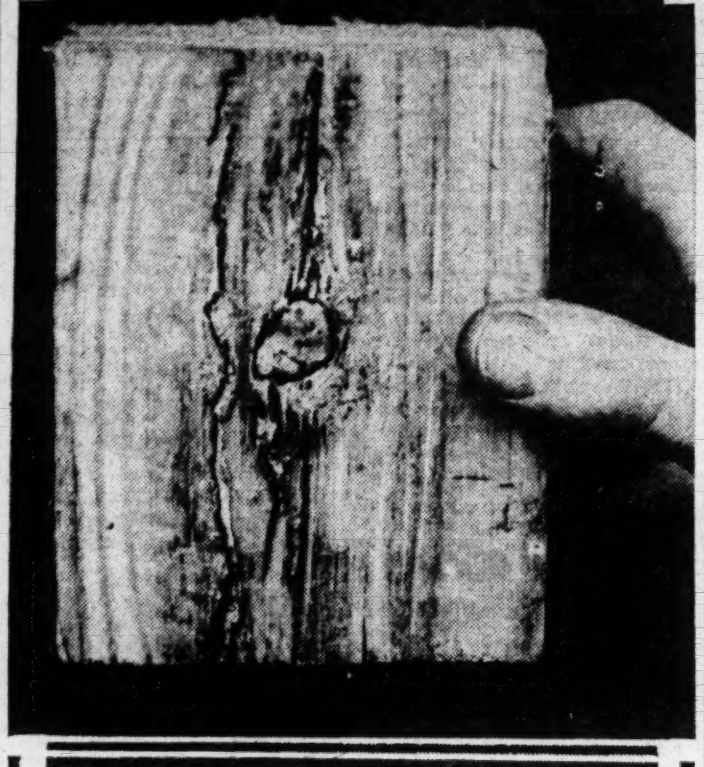

EMMETT QUINN TO ATTEND LABOR FEDERATION MEET

Emmett Quinn, deputy sheriff and president of the Atlanta Federation of Labor, will represent the local organization at the annual convention of the Georgia Federation of Labor, opening in Augusta today.

Quinn left Tuesday. Louie P. Marquardt, secretary of the federation, left for Augusta at the first of the week to attend to preliminary arrangements in connection with the convention.

Minie Ball, Relic of Civil War, Found in Heart of Tree Here

BATTLE OF ATLANTA RECALLED BY DISCOVERY

Above is shown a block of wood taken from the heart of a tree in Atlanta. Imbedded in the block may be seen a minie ball, a relic of the Civil War.

Firmly embedded in a "four by four" which was being used in construction of the new Sears-Roebuck plant, a "minie ball," relic of the Battle of Atlanta, was found Tuesday by workmen employed by the B. W. Construction Company.

The bullet evidently had pierced the tree from which the lumber was cut to a depth of several inches.

The workmen cut out that part of the lumber which held the ball and took it to Birger Peterson, superintendent of the construction company, who in turn notified the Frank G. Lake Lumber Company, from whom the lumber had been purchased.

Officials of the Lake company reported that the timber sold for the Sears-Roebuck plant had been cut from a tract on the Cascade road, about three miles from the city limits.

The ball and the piece of lumber holding it will be preserved.

"I hadn't enjoyed good health for fifteen long years, but now, thanks to Sargon, I am a well woman at eighty years of age."

"I suffered with nervous indigestion, could not eat meats of any kind and was told that I had high blood pressure, I had dreadful headaches, and was so nervous I couldn't get a good night's sleep. My liver was sluggish, I was habitually constipated and was continually taking laxatives and other medicines, but all I ever got was a little temporary relief."

"Sargon has helped me wonderfully and I now eat anything I want without ever having indigestion. My nerves are perfect and my sleep is restful. But the best thing is the way Sargon has strengthened me and increased my weight fifteen pounds."

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are an ideal laxative for people of advanced age, because they are so mild in their action. Sargon tonic is the grandest medicine I have found in all my experience and deserves all the good things being said about it. I never intend to be without it."

The above remarkable statement is from Mrs. Johanna Bent, highly esteemed resident of 931 Jehl Place, Memphis, Tenn. She is an active worker in the Lutheran church, and now is able to take as keen interest in every day affairs as a woman half her age.

Hundreds of such grateful endorsements as the above, reach the Sargon offices every week. How Sargon is restoring people in every walk of life who were suffering from many forms of stomach, liver and kidney disorders; how this revolutionary new medicine is bringing renewed health to tens of thousands all over the country, is being explained by the Special Sargon Representative to vast throngs daily at Jacobs' Main Store, 6 and 8 Marietta St. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' Drug Stores throughout Atlanta.—(adv.)

Record crowds are attending the first southern exhibition of Old Masters being held at the High Museum of Art with several priceless canvases centering attention of art lovers and critics. Exhibition hours are from 10 to 6 daily and from 7 until 9 o'clock every night except Sunday.

Angel and Saint, by Rubens, is attracting unusual attention, and the color that made Rubens famous is exquisitely portrayed in this canvas lent by the Van Dieman galleries. Two beautiful portraits of the Dutch school by Cornelius de Vos and lent by the Ehrlich galleries, display in a most unusual manner the splendid painting quality of the celebrated school of Dutch masters.

No admission to the exhibition is charged.

STEEL HACK SAWS ARE FOUND HIDDEN IN FULTON TOWER

Two steel hack saws, found by Jailer Bob Holland in the "first north" cell block of Fulton tower, caused investigation Tuesday of an investigation by the means by which the saws were obtained by Tower inmates. Jail authorities expressed the belief that the delivery of the saws to the cell block was recent. The blades were found neatly hidden behind some pipes in one of the cells, it was said. Discovery followed a tip over the "grapevine" route.

LIQUOR VIOLATORS GIVEN SENTENCES ON CHAIN GANG

Stiff penalties were meted out to three alleged prohibition violators Tuesday by Judge Jesse M. Wood in city criminal court. On a conviction for possessing seven and a half gallons of corn whiskey in a downtown office building January 12 Thomas F. House, 44, was sentenced to serve 10 months on the chain gang. R. H. Thomas, 28, and Charles Holing, 22, who pleaded guilty to a charge of possession 102 gallons of whiskey in an automobile in a garage on Greensboro avenue on March 25, were fined $250 each and given 12 months suspended sentences.

SLATON OPPOSES PROPOSED BONDS FOR STATE ROADS

Inefficiency and misapplication of funds to an appalling extent would result if the income for road improvements in Georgia was increased by a large bond issue as is proposed, former Governor John M. Slaton declared Tuesday in addressing the weekly meeting of the American Business Club, in the Henry Grady hotel.

Mr. Slaton pointed out that able estimates indicate the income from gasoline taxes for the next five years will be $15,000,000 annually. This is all that the state can hope to spend on its roads in an efficient manner, he stated. Another evil that might result from a bond issue would be the construction of roads at too rapid a pace, causing a repetition of the road history seen in other southern states, where were forced to take up hundreds of miles of roads, due to faulty construction and specifications, the former governor said, adding that at any rate it is shown by financiers that construction of roads through the income from a bond issue would double the cost of the road due to the interest on the bonds.

SENATE COMPROMISES OVER LONG PROTEST

Battle to Avert Counts Voted Since April 6 Ends In Draw

Baton Rouge, La., April 16.—(P)—Governor Huey P. Long's crucial fight to avert trial on counts of impeachment voted since the special legislative session ended April 6 resulted in a virtual compromise today in the senate while the lower house continued taking of testimony on his "strip" gambling raids, employment of a purported bodyguard and charged misuse of state funds.

Without passing on legality of house charges voted or taken up after April 6 the senate decided to receive any further indictments brought and permit Governor Long to file a demurrer on arraignment for trial to any and all charges brought. The decision came after adoption of rules for the trial.

Before senate adjournment until April 25 the body notified the house that indictment number two charging the governor with bribery of two legislators to vote for his proposed tax on occupational oil was formally received.

Also by vote of 22 to 15 the trial body adopted the rule providing for sustaining or dismissing exceptions of defense by a majority vote of the senate. A two-thirds vote is necessary to convict on any count filed.

Investigation of the military raids on alleged gambling places in the New Orleans area came up under count No.

7 charging the executive with using the military arm to loot and confiscate in times of peace contrary to the state constitution.

Charge on Fund Misuse.

Under misuse of funds the charge was brought that the governor failed to account for nearly $2,000 of $5,000 provided for entertainment of the national conference of governors in New Orleans and the impeachment managers sought to draw out testimony to determine whether a yet unexplained $1,500 "party" was held. W. O. Hart, New Orleans lawyer, who served on the entertainment committee, testified his last information was that there was a balance of $1,933 left from the fund.

Testifying on the military raids ordered by Governor Long on the "gambling establishment" located over Fagot's store in Jefferson parish on the night of November 12, 1928, Captain P. A. Dayries, of the state militia, said the troops were mobilized under direct orders from the adjutant general.

The troops entered the place with guns drawn, confiscated $10,611 in money and gave receipts, took away furnishings which were burned and obtained names and addresses, Captain Dayries testified.

Guests Were Searched.

The officer then went into the raids of February 8, last, when he said women were searched by women attendants in the ladies' dressing room at Tranchina's night club and restaurant.

"Were they stripped?" he was asked.

"Only know that their outer clothing was supposed to be removed."

"How many women were stripped and searched?"

"About five. So far as I know they were guests."

"Did you find out first whether this was a gambling establishment?"

"No, sir," the witness answered. "We just carried out our orders and confiscated the money in the course of our work."

About $5,000 was obtained there, Captain Dayries said.

Larceny After Trust

Of $500 Is Charged To Jesse B. Hodges

An indictment charging Jesse B. Hodges with larceny after trust of $500 from Miss Charlotte Waters was returned Tuesday by the Fulton grand jury. The true bill alleges that Hodges converted to his own use money entrusted to him for the purpose of investment in good interest bearing stocks and securities, on February 18, 1928.

BEAUTY OF BY-GONE DAYS DIES AT 87

Greenwich, Conn., April 16.—A beauty of bygone days who had 30 years of marriage is dead. Mrs. Mary Eaton Page, widow of Colonel J. Augustus Page, an epicure of the 70's, lived to be 87. She was a descendant of John Elliott, apostle to the Indians.

When she visited France on her honeymoon her remarkable resemblance to Empress Eugenie was noted.

Weeks with no success to speak of, Saturday night Johnson saw his wife alight from a street car in the company of Earl Jern. He punched Mr. Jern on the jaw, and they landed in jail.

"My client," said Johnson's attorney to Judge Allegretti yesterday, "stands before you unshamed. He still loves his wife, and cannot resist hitting anyone who tries to take her from him."

"And perfectly right, too," said the court, discharging Johnson.

WOMEN IN CONGRESS WEAR SOMBER HUES

One Wears White, Another Tan, While Rest Choose Dark Colors.

Washington, April 16.—(P)—Somer hues will remain the style for women members of congress, judging from the dresses worn at the opening session by the seven feminine members present of the eight who have seats.

Only two did not wear black. Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, republican, Illinois, was in white, and Mrs. Mary T. Norton, democrat, New Jersey, wore tan. Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, republican, Massachusetts, wore crsages of flowers. The former diminished the size of her bouquet by giving blossoms to male members for their coats.

Just as seven women participating in the house proceedings was a record, the galleries also were largely occupied by feminine visitors. These included many delegates here for the congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Besides Mrs. Rogers, those in black were Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, of California, and Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, of New York, both republicans, and Mrs. Pearl P. Chidfield, of Arkansas, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, of Florida, democrats.

Mrs. Katherine W. Langley, republican, Kentucky, was prevented from attending by illness.

COLD WEATHER GREETING MAJORS

Attendance Cut Down By Chilly Day as Lid Is Lifted.

His arm in shape to toss out the first ball. The other two games postponed were at Philadelphia, where the Giants and Phillies were scheduled, and at Boston, where the Braves and Red Sox were scheduled.

Despite the dismal weather, mid-season baseball prevailed in the four opening games.

Alexander and Lucas staged a pitchers' battle at Cincinnati, "Old Alex" controlling the game by winning the 35th victory of his career.

Each pitcher allowed five hits, but a wild first inning was costly to Lucas and the Cardinals scored three runs. Chick Hefner, playing in speculations, hit a home run and single, driving in four runs.

Rogers Hornsby made his debut in a Chicago Cubs uniform, but was unable to prevent his team from losing the opening game.

Grimes, pitching an opening game for the first time in his career, blanked the Cubs until the eighth and successfully staved off a ninth-inning rally.

Captain Pie Traynor, the Pirates' star third baseman, who has been troubled by an injured hip, starred at bat with three hits.

Tying the score in the ninth inning, the Indians beat the Tigers in the eleventh when Carl Jacobson doubled and scored Luke Sewell with the winning run.

AVERILL, HIS HOMER. AVERILL, the Indians' $45,000 rookie outfielder, made his initial major league appearance by hitting the first home run of the season for Earl Whitehill in the opening inning.

Sam Gray, who won 20 games last season, led the White Sox to five hits, and the Browns got away to a flying start in their quest of the American league flag.

Pirates Stop Cubs In Opener, 4 to 3

Bucs Weather Storm of Baseknocks To Win; Grimes Checks Rogers Hornsby.

By Paul R. Mickelson.

Chicago, April 16.—(AP)—Donnie Bush's Pirates' brig weathered a withering storm of base hits today and sailed off on its National league pennant voyage with a 4-to-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs lashed to its masthead.

Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitball artist, skipped the Buccaners today and although it looked as if he would sink their craft just before it left port, his old cunning and some sparkling assistance from his mates saved the situation.

Fifty thousand noisy baseball fans who jammed Wrigley field to the rim watched today's battle between the two pennant contenders and were rewarded with a game that packed as much drama and good baseball as exhibited in the usual midsummer classics.

Sharing Grimes' glory were Pie Traynor, who led the Pirate attack with a double, two singles and two runs; George Grantham, a Cub cast-off, who drove in two runs with a crashing double; and Bartlett, who continually pestered the Cubs' defense until he splintered it to drive in two runs.

Charlie Root, ace of the National league pitchers in 1927, was the victim of the Pirates today. Root started on the mound for the Cubs and successfully staved off a ninth-inning rally.

Hornsby attempted to make his Chicago debut today, but was unable to prevent his team from losing the opening game.

HUNT GOES ON FOR JONES FOE

McCrory Scours Field for Man To Wrestle Paul Here Friday.

With several lines out for an opponent for Paul Jones, who wrestles on Friday night, Matchmaker Earl McCrory stated last night that he was sure one of the grapplers under consideration would sign up for the bout some time today.

He is among the most promising of the ex-collegiate athletes, and, according to McCrory, is in demand over all the country. Atlanta followers of the wrestling game always turn out in full to see Jones perform, for he forever wears biceps in on his adversary.

Milo Steinborn, who clashes with Frank Brownovic in a special match will arrive here today. Steinborn is an outstanding claimant to the world's strongest man title. He holds several weight-lifting records, and is the inventor of several reducing and strengthening machines.

Steinborn appeared here for the first time on last Thursday's card. In Brownovic, Steinborn battles a matman whose style is entirely different from his own. Brownovic is one of the roughest tusslers in the game, and a great deal of that sort of performance is expected to be displayed as Brownovic attempts to avoid the "body crusher."

Matchmaker McCrory has been forced to again sign his card in the auditorium annex, due to preparations for the grand opera going on in the main building. Tickets for the card will be available Thursday morning at Arnold Soda Company, Luckie and Broad, and Candler Building Soda Company.

A. A. U. Champion Called Professional

Chicago, April 16.—(AP)—Jimmy Chase, Central Amateur Athletic Union 112-pound champion, has been charged with professionalism and may be banned from the National A. A. U. tournament next week.

Within an hour after Chase was entered in the boxing tournament at Metropolitan A. A. U. of New York, protested, advising tournament officials it would forward proof he was a professional. Chase denies the charge.

Petrels To Play Clemson Today

Oglethorpe, Improving Steadily, Engages Tigers in Two Games.

By Cy Bell.

Oglethorpe's Stormy Petrels will be host to the Clemson Tigers in a two-game series, the first game to be played this afternoon at Hermance field. The Tigers have had a very successful season thus far, splitting even in a two-game series with the Tech outfit the past week.

The Petrels have been working hard for the Tiger series and Coach Anderson has been working up on the mistakes made by the Petrel nine during the Mercer games. Oglethorpe looked better in the Mercer series than any game thus far this year. There is still room for improvement, however, in the Petrel's outfield.

The outfield problem has been of no small worry to Anderson this season. Hiddle, a sophomore, has been the most consistent player in the department. Hiddle has a lot to learn, and the coach has been drilling him hard this week for the Clemson series. Wall is about the only outfielder that has his position cinched.

Wall's hitting is one of the big factors in the Petrel offense. Holcomb, who has been in the outfield, has been shifted to first base, replacing Everett, who is in a hitting slump.

The Petrel infield is one of the best in the south, both on offense and defense, and Coach Anderson is depending on the infield in the coming series with the Tigers. The pitching staff has been doing its share in holding the opposition to just a few hits this year.

Vaughn, the best pitcher that Coach Anderson has produced in a number of years, will get the assignment in the first game against the Tigers. The catching duties will be well taken care of by Captain Thompson.

Thompson is the greatest backstop that Oglethorpe has ever had. Thompson has a great arm and has been a great asset to the team. A number of big league scouts have been after Thompson and he no doubt will sign with someone after he graduates in June.

IT TOOK THE RECEIPTS OF

173 days TO PAY FOR LABOR

18 days for FUEL

57 days for MATERIALS and SUPPLIES

30 days for ALL OTHER EXPENSES

20 days for TAXES

31 days for INTEREST and RENTS

21 days for DIVIDENDS

16 days for IMPROVEMENTS

The above pictures and paragraphs tell in a most interesting way what becomes of the money American shippers and travelers spend for railroad transportation.

The figures quoted here are the records of the L. & N. R. R. for the year 1928, and apply generally to every other great trunkline system in the country.

Every dollar of revenue for 173 days out of the 366 was paid out for labor; every dollar of revenue for 18 days was required to supply fuel; the entire revenues of 57 days' operation were necessary for materials and supplies, while all other expenses required the total income of 30 days of railroad operation.

For 20 days during 1928, every dollar received by this railroad was paid out in state, federal, and county taxes. For 31 days, the revenues were expended in interest and in rent, while 21 days' revenues were required to pay dividends to the owners of L. & N. securities, leaving a balance of but 16 days' revenues for improvements and betterments in the service.

Some part of this disbursement indirectly reached the readers of this newspaper and this statement is published simply to emphasize the mutual relation existing between this railroad and the communities it serves.

Tulips Bloom Too Soon For April Shower

The premature summer weather of March and April, which brought the tulip bulbs to triumphant bloom earlier than was expected caused the cancelling of the show arranged for yesterday by the Peachtree Garden Club and has also been the reason for the non-staging of "Tulip Time in Marietta," which was scheduled for tomorrow by the Marietta Garden Club. Garden lovers in Atlanta and Georgia are in the same position as are those members of clubs in Philadelphia, for con- sideration is reigning there at present because all the tulips, hyacinths, philox and corydalis have been born out of season in the Quaker City gardens and the members are experiencing a nerve-racking sensation, as the delegates from north, east, south and west are to be entertained in Philadelphia in May at the annual convention of the Garden Club of America.

Miss Nellie Hightower as chairman for the Peachtree Garden Club called off yesterday's tulip show, which was to have been arranged at the Piedmont Driving Club, and Mrs. Otis Brumby as president of the Marietta Garden Club cancelled the date for that organization, the show to have been a colorful spectacle during the past week.

She was graduated from Washington seminary in the class of 1928, being president of the Phi Pi Society and Pirate Club, two of the most outstanding organizations in the student body, and also received her diploma in music from the seminary. She is a sister of Miss Eliza Burnham Tway and Jack Lewis Tway, and is descended from prominent and aristocratic Kentucky and Ohio families. Her mother was formerly Miss Mary Lewis, daughter of Mrs. John Lewis and the late Mr. Lewis, of Glasgow, Ky., who numbers among her distinguished ancestors the late General Joseph H. Lewis, of Kentucky, who was her great-grandfather. He was one of the bravest and most highly esteemed officers in the Civil War, and commanded the famous orphan brigade, probably the greatest body of fighting men the world has ever known. He was a noted lawyer, statesman, member of congress, and judge of the Kentucky court of appeals, and the proud name of the Lewis family has, socially and in a business way, stood first and foremost in the annals of the history of the Blue Grass state. Her grandfather, John Lewis, founded the Farmers' National Bank of Glasgow, one of the leading financial institutions in Kentucky. On her paternal side the bride-elect is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Tway, of Ohio, and her father, Charles W. Tway, a well-known business man of Atlanta, was graduated from the University of Ohio, a state in which his family was an important factor in its development. OUR CLUB — By Secretary Hawkins

Address by G. E. Hamilton
Features P.-T. A. MeetingBY LAMAR SPARKS, Staff Correspondent.

Savannah, Ga., April 16.—The address, "Visual Instruction and the New Education," by G. E. Hamilton, well-known lecturer of Meadville, Pa., featured the evening session of the Georgia Congress of Parents and Teachers in convention here. Mr. Hamilton brought out exchanges in the objectives and requirements of education which paralleled the changes of life in general, and showed the importance of the use of visual education in meeting these needs.

"The biggest change in education is our attitude toward what it is," he said. "At one time we thought of education as something apart from life. Now we know that its purpose is to adjust the child to life."

"Formerly at the age of six years the child left the world and went to school in an artificial situation where he learned or committed to memory formulae and abstractions. Then at a certain age he came out into the world and tried to learn to apply these formulae and abstractions to life."

Modern School Needs.

"When the world was simple he could do this; which isn't saying that the system was a success at all. Now, forced by complexities, we are learning to make the child's school experience a life situation where not only formulae are learned, but where problems are met and solved just as they will be later. In other words, the ideal school, instead of being a preparation for life is a preparation in life. Whereas, at one time all that was needed was a comprehension of the three R's, today the child ought to be in contact with the complicated aspects of life which he is sure to meet when he is thrown out into the world."

"In meeting the requirements of these changes which demand that the school do a great deal more than ever before for enriched curriculum, the value of the use of visual aids, I believe, is inestimable."

The report of Mrs. George H. Hines, of Milledgeville, was appointed as her substitute.

Reports Are Heard.

Supplementary reports of the department of education, public welfare, and home service featured the morning session, which was held at the Municipal Auditorium.

Pointing out that there are 85 counties in Georgia without a public library, Mrs. C. L. Stokesberry, of Savannah, chairman of library extension, urged the convention to bring its influence to bear upon the passage of the permissive county library law, which would allow the county to take advantage of the Rosenwald fund for circulating libraries. The suggestion was endorsed by Mrs. George H. Hines, of Atlanta, chairman of juvenile

Mrs. Joe Dan Miller, of Gainesville, state president, brought out the fact that Gainesville is the only city in the state which is taking advantage of the 1923 recreational tax law, which affords the city between four and five thousand dollars annually for supervised recreation.

The Hall county P.-T. A., which is the only one in the state which is cooperating with the field workers of the state board of public health in making a self survey of the entire county, was reported.

The report of Mrs. George H. Hines, of Atlanta, chairman of juvenile protection, showed that designated juvenile courts have increased since 1920 from 8 to 128, and that there are now 21 social workers where there were two at that time.

Specialized conferences of the various departments and groups were held at the DeSoto hotel and at the Municipal Auditorium during the afternoon.

The gold star breakfast at the Hotel DeSoto, Mrs. Lawrence Kelly, of Savannah, chairman, and the luncheon in the gymnasium of the Jewish Educational Alliance, given by the Chatham county council Parent-Teacher Associations, were social features of the day.

The Wednesday morning session will be held at 9 o'clock at the Municipal Auditorium, Mrs. Joe Dan Miller, of Gainesville, state president, and Mrs. George H. Hines, of Atlanta, substitute for Mrs. Baynard Williamson, of College Park, fourth vice president, who was unable to attend the convention on account of illness, presiding. The report of the resolutions committee will be heard. Dr. T. G. Abernethy, of Atlanta, will make a special report on "Adult Hygiene."

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. J. C. Wall, of Watson, sixth vice president, will preside at the afternoon session at the Municipal Auditorium, when routine business of the convention will be discussed. A publicity breakfast at the Hotel DeSoto at 7:45 o'clock, and the automobile ride and luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the Savannah Country Club at which the Chatham county council of Parent-Teacher Associations will be the hosts, will be the social features of the day.

Atlanta D. A. R.
Celebrates Its
38th Birthday

The thirty-eighth birthday of the Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R., was celebrated Monday afternoon, and Mrs. E. H. Thonson, first vice president, presided in the absence of the regent, Mrs. John William Smith, who is in Washington, D. C., attending the national convention of the D. A. R.

The first vice president, Mrs. G. Carpenter Jones read a "Sketch of Craigie House," home of the Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R., is so-called as a tribute to the commonwealth of Massachusetts, in honor of one of her most distinguished poets, Longfellow, whose home was famously known by that name. Following the close of the great southern exposition in Atlanta, when the dismantling and tearing down of the buildings was begun, the building known as "The Massachusetts" was given by that state to the Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R., to be used in making a home for the chapter. The lot on which Craigie House now stands was presented to the chapter by two generous citizens of Atlanta. It is situated on Piedmont avenue, facing Piedmont park. Entwining the right facade of the building is a mass of English ivy, brought originally from the home of George Washington, at Mount Vernon. On the left corner, running as a twin sister of thought is the famous Virginia creeper from Arlington, once the home of Robert E. Lee.

Mrs. Robert Blackburn, poet laureate of the chapter, read her original poem, "Our Chapter House," a poem she commenced years ago and to which each birthday she adds a verse. The Atlanta chapter is the second oldest in the D. A. R. in the country. It was organized in 1891, and since that time it has grown to the 400 members of the Atlanta chapter. The roll of past regents was called and each of the 20 regents the chapter has had since its organization, who were present, cut a slice of the cake. The first regent to cut was Mrs. J. M. High present chairman of the board of management of the chapter. Quantities of red tulips, blue iris, white spirea gave the national colors to the affair. The program ended with a group of songs sung by Mrs. Sam Johnson, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Julius Glavin, including "I Heard You Singing," "Eric Croates," "In the Year," "Bohm," "A Cry at Dawn," "Caddman." As an encore Mrs. Johnson sang Stanton's "Just a Wearying for You."

Members of the chapter in attendance at the meeting in Washington, D. C., were Mrs. William Smith, regent; Thomas M. John M. Sloan, Charles Rice, Lucius McConnell, S. L. Orr, Lee McNaughton, Miss Virginia Hardin, Frances Brown, Chase, Misses Byrd Blankenship and Virginia Hardin.

The Alliance Francaise meets Thursday afternoon, April 18, at 3:30 o'clock with Mr. Paul Seydel, 1008 Spring street, N. W.

Charles Loridan, in anticipation of the Foch memorial service, will open the meeting with a brief address on "Foch—Man and Marshal." Following this Oliver Vinour will present a paper on Augustin Eugene Scribe, the next dramatist for discussion on the Alliance of the study of the development of French Drama. The subject of Mr. Vinour's paper will be of particular interest to students of dramatic technique, since the critics all accord to Scribe the supreme mastery of stagecraft, however fault-finding they may be as to his absolute literary achievement.

Mrs. George McKee, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. L. Richardson, will sing "The Yearning," by Rene Rabe, and "La Pousiere," by Alexander Georges. Under the auspices of the Atlanta Alliance Francaise there will be a solemn military requiem high mass for Marshal Foch at the Sacred Heart church at 10 o'clock Friday morning, to which the public is invited. To this most impressive ceremony delegations will be sent from Fort McPherson, military schools and colleges, and from many other organizations throughout the city.

IMPRESSIVE BEAUTY MARKS FLOWERS-LEE WEDDING

Miss Flowers and Mr. Lee United at Church Ceremony

Impressive beauty and dignity marked the marriage of Miss Genevieve Flowers and George Lee, formerly of Grantville, which was solemnized last evening at the Druid Hills Methodist church at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. Rev. O. W. Beasley, of Crossville, Tenn., brother of the bride, performed the ceremony.

The church was artistically garlanded in an effective arrangement of Easter lilies, white snapdragons and sweet peas interspersed with palms and ferns. The aisles leading to the altar were outlined with burning tapers tied with fluffy white tulle and the altar was banked with stately palms centered by a tall pedestal basket containing Easter lilies, snapdragons and showered with fragrant white sweet peas. At either side were placed two seven-branched candelabra.

Before the ceremony a beautiful program of nuptial music was rendered on the organ by Miss Ethel Beyer, including "At Dawning," by Cadman, and "Traumeri," by Schumann. Floyd Jennings sang "The Day of Golden Promise," by Hamlen.

Wedding Attendants.

Entering the church in pairs were the bridesmaids, who were Misses Virginia Branch, Velma Barnett, Aurelia Taylor and Rose Lee, of Grantville, sister of the groom. Mrs. O. W. Beasley, sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor. They were beautifully gowned in pink tulle modeled with long waist and skirt formed of two circular tiers longer on the left. This charming costume was enhanced by a chartreuse green bow at the waistline and was offset by satin slippers of the same shade. Their bouquets were fashioned in the shower effect of Ophelia roses, varicolored sweet peas, snapdragons and pansies.

The little flower girls were Miss Dorothy Benson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Benson, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Sarah Frances Beasley, a niece of the bride. They were charming little figures in their pink tulle and tulle frocks carrying miniature baskets of pastel-shaded flowers. L. Y. Fowler, W. M. Sewell, of Lafayette, Ala., J. D. Wise and J. I. Herren acted as groomsmen.

Lovely Bride.

The charming bride entered the church with her brother, James J. Flowers, Jr., who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, W. A. Lee, who acted as his best man. She wore an exquisite picture in her bridal robes of oyster white satin fashioned with long modelled waist and very long, full skirt falling to the floor, forming a train. The low neck was enhanced by a picturesque bertha of real cream lace. The fluffy tulle was effectively caught to the blonde hair of the bride in the cape shape manner with a wreath of orange blossoms across the front, and extended to the floor. It was caught at intervals by dainty sprays of orange blossoms tipped the bridal slippers and the bouquet was of orchids and white lilies showered with lilies of the valley.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Ruth Flowers, was gowned in beaded blue georgette and wore a cascade bouquet of pink radiance roses.

Wedding Trip.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. Lee and his bride left on their wedding journey by motor. The bride's traveling costume was a navy blue print worn under a broadcloth skirt and bag of navy blue to match. After the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Lee will be at home at the Greenwood apartments on Greenwood avenue.

Miss Alexander Weds Mr. Brown At Home Ceremony

Characterized by impressive charm and dignity was the wedding of Miss Felma Helen Alexander, daughter of Mrs. E. E. Alexander, to Roland Webster Brown, which was solemnized Sunday, April 14, at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. C. F. Hart, on Morriside drive. The Rev. J. M. Long, pastor of Virginia Avenue Baptist church, officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

The home was attractively decorated for the occasion with quantities of fragrant roses and spring flowers combined with palms and ferns. In the living room an improvised altar was formed of ferns and palms. At intervals were placed tall cathedral candelabra holding burning white tapers, the candlebras being connected by wide white satin ribbons threaded among the palms. Other rooms in which the guests were received were adorned with spring blossoms featuring the Dresden shades. Preceding the ceremony an appropriate program of nuptial music was rendered. Mrs. W. H. Ritchie played the piano while Homer Faulkner sang "Love You Truly" and "Because." Mendelssohn's wedding march rendered by Mrs. Ritchie announced the entrance of the wedding party.

Miss Nettie Whittle, bridesmaid, entering first wore a becoming gown of frosted peach tulle, princess style, and carried pink Ophelia roses showered with lavender sweet peas. Miss Mildred Alexander was the maid of honor and was beautifully gowned in frosted blue tulle, full bouffant style, and carried a bouquet of yellow Ophelia roses.

Frank Hart, Jr., the ring-bearer, and nephew of the bride, entered carrying a white lily which concealed the rings. He wore a white linen suit. Little Miss Louise Lander, flower girl, and niece of the bride, carried an old-fashioned bouquet of pink rosebuds showered with valley lilies. She wore a daintily fashioned white crepe de Chine frock with a narrow white satin ribbon in her hair.

The bride entered with her mother, Mrs. E. E. Alexander, who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and R. P. Fish, the best man. The bride was a picture of loveliness in her exquisite wedding gown of white satin and silk tulle, fashioned with a basque waist and full skirt with the graceful uneven hemline extending to ankle length in the back. She wore on her head a becoming tiara of orange blossoms. White satin pumps with rhinestone buckles were worn with the bridal gown, and completing the costume was a bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies with white satin ribbons extending to the floor.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held. The bride's book was kept by Mrs. R. E. Cullinan, who was gowned in a becoming beige crepe de Chine gown. Miss Florine Daniel and Miss Louise Burdette presided at the punch bowl. Miss Daniel wore a flowered silk gown with uneven hemline, while Miss Burdette was gowned in green chiffon, also fashioned with the uneven hemline. Mrs. E. E. Alexander, the bride's mother, wore an attractive gown of beige crepe de Chine trimmed with Irish lace. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink roses and lavender sweet peas. Mrs. C. F. Hart was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. Elsie Lander, both being sisters of the bride.

After the reception the bridal couple left for Richmond, Ind., where they will make their home. The bride's going-away costume was an attractive black kasha ensemble trimmed with long black monkey fur. With this she wore a close-fitting black straw hat, with accessories to match.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

PADDY'S POND IS POPULAR.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Where many gather you will see
The evil with the good will be.
—Old Mother Nature.

Every one for a long distance knew that Honker had arrived. It was known all through the Green Forest. It was known all over the Green Meadows. It was known up at Farmer Brown's. Honker makes no secret of his coming and going. That is how every one knew that Honker and his flock had returned from their winter home in the Sunny South and had stopped at the pond of Paddy the Beaver deep in the Green Forest.

It was surprising how many people found they had business at the pond of Paddy the Beaver. Yes, sir, it was surprising. Honker and his flock had hardly settled on the smooth water of Paddy's pond when certain folk began to move that way. It was just at dusk that the flock had arrived. Many of the Green Forest folk, as you know, are abroad at night, and most of these folk at once turned toward Paddy's pond. Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy left the Old Pasture early, but not earlier than did Old Man Coyote and Mrs. Coyote. All of them headed straight for the Green Forest.

"I suppose it is foolish to go away over there, my dear," said Reddy Fox, "for I don't suppose there is a chance in the world that we shall be able to catch one of those Geese."

"Perhaps not," replied Mrs. Reddy, "but we certainly will not have a chance if we don't go. Of course, Old Man Coyote and Mrs. Coyote will be there, but you never can tell what will happen."

Yowler the Bobcat, soft-footed, mouse-like shadow headed for Paddy's pond. Buster Bear headed that way. So did Mrs. Lightfoot and the two young Lightfoots. Lightfoot himself heard the voice of Honker and longed to be there, but he would not leave his retirement. Jumper the Hare was one of the first to arrive. Hooty the Great Horned Owl started for Paddy's pond as soon as he heard Honker's voice. Billy Mink came hurrying up the Laughing Brook. So it was that by the time Honker and his flock were ready for sleep, there were many watchful eyes peering out from the shadows around the pond of Paddy the Beaver.

Some of these visitors came openly to the water's edge. They were Honker's friends. They had no thought of going to hunt Honker or any of his flock. But others there were who kept themselves hidden. Yowler the Bobcat, Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy and Old Man Coyote and Mrs. Coyote were others. They kept themselves well hidden, not only from Honker and his flock, but from each other. They were there selfishly. Each one was hoping that chance would bring one of those big birds within reach. Each one knew that the other hunters were somewhere about, so each was jealously watchful.

A wise bird is Honker the Goose. He had seen none of these hidden enemies, but he knew that they were there. He knew out of the experience of many such journeys. And so as the Black Shadows crept across the pond Honker rounded up his flock and saw to it that they were all in the middle of the pond for the sleep and rest they so much needed.

LABOR TO SEEK RADIO PROPAGANDA NETWORK

Chicago Station WCFL To Be Key of Short Wave Circuit Under Present Plans.

BY MARTIN CODEL.

Washington, April 16.—(Special.) A national radio network devoted to the interest of labor, utilizing short waves rather than telephone lines to link the member stations, is proposed in plans submitted to the federal radio commission by the Chicago Federation of Labor station WCFL.

The labor station at Chicago would be developed as the "key" of the new chain and its programs would be relayed via the short waves for rebroadcasting by other stations throughout the country.

Leaders to Appear.

With this as their object, about 75 labor union leaders, from various parts of the country are appearing before the commission at a series of hearings this week. They are headed by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and Edwin Nockels, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Technical men are also in the party for the purpose of showing the engineering feasibility of the project.

The Chicago station, now operating during daylight hours only on the cleared wave length assigned to KJRH, Seattle, is seeking to have its wave length changed to 770 kilocycles (230 meters), which is the channel now shared by WRMB, Chicago, and KFAB, Lincoln, Neb.

Change Is Resisted.

Such a change is being vigorously resisted by counsel for these stations, who, under the commission's rules of procedure, must defend their present assignment as being of superior public interest, convenience or necessity.

The Station WCFL is also asking for a power increase from 1,000 watts to the present maximum rate of 50,000 watts. While broadcasting with this power over the Chicago area, it proposes to use two or three auxiliary short waves for simultaneous relay broadcasting.

Thus, its programs could be picked up by other stations desiring to subscribe to its service and rebroadcast on their own normal wave lengths.

Clubwomen Act As Hostesses Today.

Today has been set aside as Atlanta Woman's Club day at the High Museum of Art, and a cordial invitation is extended to club members of the federation to view the current exhibition of old masters and to hear a gallery talk on the paintings by R. J. McKinney, director. The gallery tour is scheduled at 4 o'clock and tea will be served directly after Mr. McKinney's lecture. This opportunity to view one of the most important collections of old masters outside of permanent collections in this important museum is a rare one and members of the Atlanta Woman's Club are urged to be present. Representatives from the club will act as hostesses.

Chicago's Latest "Racket," 'Bunco' Game Raid by Police

49 WOMEN HALED INTO COURT

Chicago, April 16.—(United News.) "Bunco," the game in which daring girls, mothers and grandmothers chance their dimes for groceries, is Chicago's latest racket.

Forty-nine offenders who were taken in a raid on the Peacock Social Club, some supported by husbands, others supporting babies in their arms, were haled into the racket court of Judge Howard Hayes to deny they were common gamblers and to demand separate trials.

No charges have been placed against the granddaughters who appeared with their relatives, although three infants were taken in the raid conducted when it was found the women were rolling dice for sacks of flour, cans of peas and other necessities of the family table.

The accused defendants were not given the opportunity to make official denials, but Judge Hayes granted the request of Attorney John Byrne for separate jury trials and the clattering wives, husbands, mothers and grandmothers filed out of the courtroom to await the calling of their cases.

An Unusual Scene.

The scene before Judge Hayes was the most unusual witnessed here since the racket court was stabilized several weeks ago to handle the cases of racketeers, advising that those "getting in the official conveyances first would be assured of seats "for the ride."

A few became hysterical, some sought to escape and others used strong terms of denunciation for the disgrace of being arrested as gamblers and racketeers of the common type. Mystified husbands, waiting the return of their usually punctual wives, sent out appeals to police stations until it was learned what had happened. The prisoners were released on $400 real estate bonds, but they shook fists under the sergeant's nose and laid their eyes on inmates of a disorderly house.

Still smarting under the disgrace of spending several hours behind the bars of the stockyards district police station, the 49 women came into court all ready to talk at once and explain the "innocent pastime" which the law termed gambling.

Railroad Round Trip Fare Held Reasonable by I. C. C.

Washington, April 16.—(AP)—Railroad round trip passenger fare levels, as now scheduled by transcontinental carriers, were held reasonable today by the interstate commerce commission in dismissing without action on complaint on the subject made by the San Diego, Calif. Chamber of Commerce. Business interests of that city asserted that an extra charge of $3 to $7.50 on round trip privileges go and from Pacific coast ports, when the passenger travels via San Diego was alleged to be a discrimination against the California city. The commission, however, declared that there was no reason to change the present passenger schedules on the traffic.

He is about to leave his office one day to take his wife and children for a ride when a messenger brings him a telegram. The telegram is from the wife of a man named Freese, who is a friend of his. The telegram says that the man named Freese has been killed. Major Freese is shocked and goes to the office of the police to report the matter. The police officer tells him that the man named Freese was a friend of his. Major Freese is shocked and goes to the office of the police to report the matter. The police officer tells him that the man named Freese was a friend of his.

A few years later Prunella and Hugh meet at London where they spend the night together. Freese remembers seeing Lieutenant Levan in the morning. A few days after Lieutenant Levan's professional call on Major Freese, the judge's office invites the older one into the room for a nightcap and tells him he is aware of his threats to expose him, at which Levan laughs. As Freese leaves Levan's room, Lieutenant Harris calls to him and asks him to come into his room. He tells Freese that he has just been called to the court and that he is going to be a judge. Freese is shocked and goes to the office of the police to report the matter. The police officer tells him that the man named Freese was a friend of his.

INSTALLMENT XXXIX. A NEW CLEW.

In the saloon bar of the Golden Fleecy, Mr. Mason, under the influence of a large port, which was his peculiar choice of morning drink, enlarged on the subject.

"Mind you," he informed McMaster, "it takes a lot of practice to make that cut proper. My young nevy was a wonder at it. Never made a mistake."

"Isn't he with you now, Mr. Mason?"

"Wish he was." It appeared to be a painful subject, for Mr. Mason, with a frown, hastily swallowed the contents of his glass and rose to his feet.

"How about the other half?" suggested McMaster.

"How did your nephew come to leave you?" he inquired, casually.

"Well," Mr. Mason posed a question dramatically, "is the root of all evil?"

"Poplarly taken to be money, I believe."

"No, sir," emphatically rejoined Mr. Mason, wagging a large finger, "women. Gels. A proper nuisance they is. It was a gel upset my nevy. Some little 'bin' from up Tottenham way that he got sweet on. 'Er father was a clerk, and young 'Arry never let on 'e was in the butchering. Why not, you'll say? Because this 'ere democratic country is simply riddled with snobbishness. Butchers is looked down on. Always has been. Well, one day she found out and she starts laughin' and sneerin' at 'im. Very sensitive 'e was always about the butchering, and this gel laughin' and despisin' of 'im near drove him crazy. One even' I met 'im just as 'e was goin' out to meet this gel, all dressed up. 'Till, 'till, I see 'er that you got in your 'and? Well, it was stickin' knife. Ah! Very sensitive and brooding he was. I talked to him half the night; persuaded him to go straight off and enlist. Get away, I told him, 'go to furrin' parts. See the world in the army. That'll cure you. You see, I bin in the army myself. Twelve years I did. Finished up a master butcher. Well, he did it. Went out to India, must be six years ago now. I never heard of him more than a picture postcard from Allen. But I'll get 'im back one day when 'e times up in the army. A good lad, only terrible sensitive about the butchering. Very 'andy he was with that stickin' knife. I reckin' on I saved that gel's life that night—and 'Arry from swingin'."

McMaster reached the Yard after a hasty lunch at the City cafe, and called for the papers in connection with the Medbury fort case. "Where is Inspector Paton?" he asked the clerk who brought him the file.

"He left yer, sir, he was going to Swindon."

For the next half hour the chief devoted himself to a careful study of the witnesses' statements which had been collated by Paton. "Yes," he murmured aloud, pushing the file away from him with an impatient movement, "it was possible for that fellow to have done it, but why should he? What was the motive? I don't see it. One thing is certain, though, Paton is after the wrong hare altogether."

Reaching to the mouthpiece of a speaking tube, he spoke down it: "Is Mallinson in?" "Very good. Send him up to see me at once, please."

A few minutes later Detective Sergeant Mallinson quietly entered the room. McMaster regarded his subordinate with a somewhat quizzical smile. "Mallinson," he said, "I believe you have served in the royal navy?"

"Yes, sir."

"Could you, within an hour, get a complete rigout as, say, a stoker rating?"

"I could, sir," replied the detective sergeant without an instant's hesitation.

"Good! Come back here as soon as you can in outward seeming and dinner a perfectly good leading stoker on leave from one of his majesty's ships. I want you to go down to Medbury fort, but I'll give you full instructions when you are in character."

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, April 16.—(AP)—Nearly a bushel tumble in wheat values today resulted from greatly enlarged selling that was associated with disappointment over proposed agricultural legislation at Washington.

President Hoover's message relative to methods of increasing agricultural production was of no avail apparently as stimulus to buy, all grain prices finishing at virtually the day's lowest level.

Closing quotations on wheat were: 4-14c to 4-7c net lower, with corn 2 1/2c to 2 1/2c, and provisions unchanged to 1/2c higher.

Downturn in the price of wheat began right at the start of the day, while the appearance of the trading pit suggested that something akin to a selling stampede was in progress, especially on the part of recent speculative buyers.

Offerings of future deliveries were greatly in excess of buying demand, and before even a transient halting place was reached the market underwent a drop of 1-2c a bushel.

Pending definite word as to the contents of President Hoover's message to congress, a temporary lull took place after the early selling rush was over. During the delivery of the message and for some time subsequent the market remained almost stationary.

Then a renewed selling movement, general selling was witnessed, and with no important fresh buying power in evidence, the market again began to collapse.

Contributing to the weakness of wheat values were advices current that a big export order of wheat at the end of the season was in prospect, especially in the southwest, with farmers and dealers asking for reduced rail rates to move out present heavy stocks of grain before the new crop accumulates in addition.

Corn, oats and rye followed wheat downward, and it was a bear day from start to finish. What relative firmness was shown by corn came from announcement of future vessel clearances taking corn from Chicago to eastern ports. Arrivals of corn in Chicago, however, amounted to only 20 cars, compared with 222 cars a year ago.

Provisions were unsettled, the break in grain leading to selling, although hog values were generally steady.

The continued cheerful tone of business indicated by the stock market in the buying in the stock market late in today's session and checked the drizzling stream of liquidation which became a feature of the market in the month ago. Call money again renewed at 8 percent but mounted to 9 as banks withdrew some $15,000,000 in the afternoon. The market was regarded as more cheerful. Bankers acceptances were moving a little more easily, and the spring peak of commercial credit requirements appeared to be passing. The federal reserve statement of the condition of member banks of 101 leading cities, showing a decline in deposits, was pleasing, as this item has failed to follow the trend of the market to lower levels in recent weeks.

President Hoover's message to congress contained no surprises for Wall Street. That he made no reference to the credit situation was regarded as indicating that the administration is not prepared to take any action at the present time. The message was well received by the market, which had been somewhat disappointed by the lack of action in the past few days.
